

EMERSON

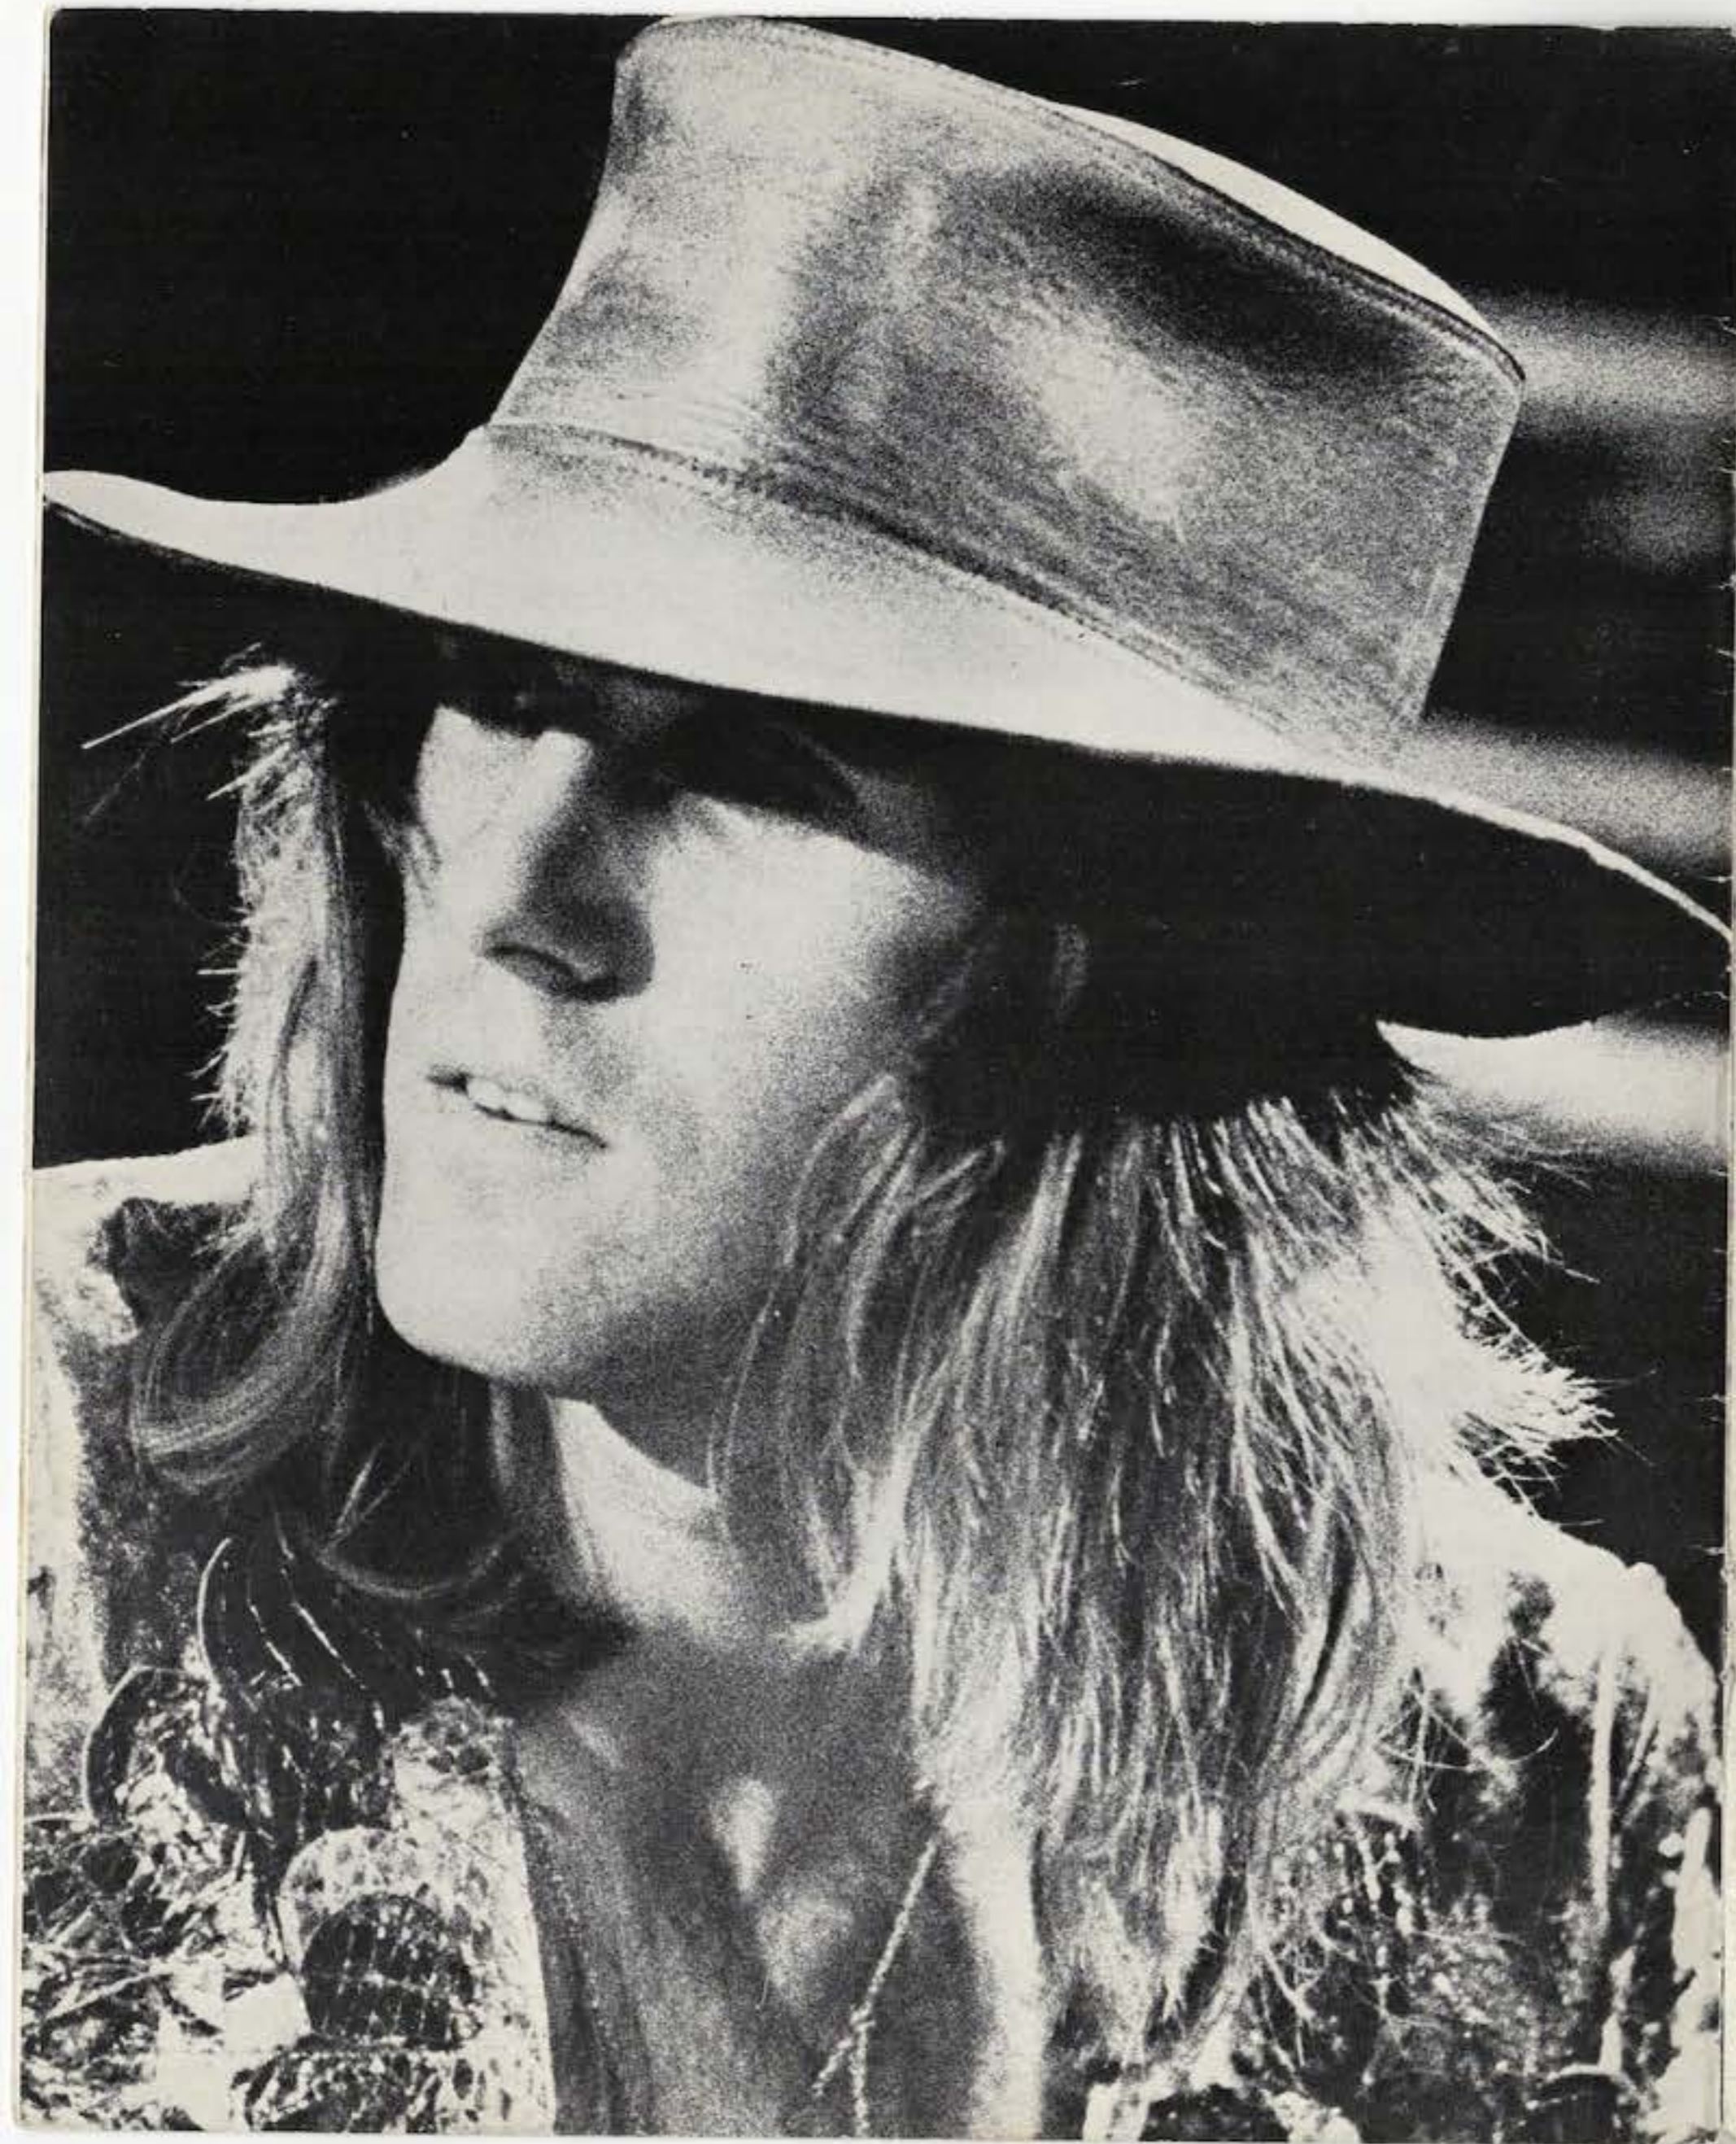

LAKE

AND

PALMER

IN CONCERT

A triangular group, the three sides of which were joined by Lachesis; its lifespan will no doubt be governed by her. Providing the three angles involved always equal 180° , time will join us not only at the corners but to all of our dimensions forming an entity in the form of a pyramid.

My music is spiritual. Some of it handed down from past beings, some of it new ideas born from the collective aura of those of you present tonight. The rest of it floats in some astral plane which sometimes materializes and sometimes remains just out of reach in that area of the mind known as the sub-conscious. When one wall has been climbed there is always another. Such is the fate of a musician to conquer one wall after the other; to fight a mental war in which there is no napalm, no guns, no bombs, and no dead. The only destruction involved being one's own physical self when everything one is brought into contact with transforms itself into a wavelength which must be written down, played and recorded and left as a milestone in one's lifetime to face the sunshine of the believers and the wind and rain of the non-believers and druids.

You and ourselves are here tonight to both give and receive. Either like us or dislike us. PLEASE NO IN-BETWEENS.

Keith Emerson.

Learn to be a professional

Join the army.

~~BEST WISHES~~
~~with love~~

ps. enjoy the concert

“Someone asked me the other day what our music is all about.

I think we have tried to make our music as extreme as possible but at the same time we’ve left enough space to move in and around the arrangements without disturbing the basic structure of the songs.”

Carl Palmer.

A handwritten signature of Carl Palmer in black ink. The signature is highly stylized and cursive, with large loops and a long horizontal stroke at the end.

Handwritten signatures in blue ink:

Left signature: [Illegible signature]

Middle signature: [Illegible signature]

Right signature: [Illegible signature]